Welcome by William U. Eiland, Director, Georgia Museum of Art

Introduction of the guest speaker, artist Judy Bales, by E. Lee Eltzroth, 2012 president ARLIS/SE

Judy Bales, a textile artist and sculptor, received both her BFA and MFA from the University of Georgia. Although she now resides in Fairfield, Iowa, she returns to Athens often. Among other things, she will tell us about her Public Art projects' relationship to her research and writing on the African-American quilting tradition, mathematics and fractals. <http://www.judybales.com>

At the close of our scheduled events, you may want to visit the GMOA shop (open until 8:45 p.m.), browse the Museum exhibits (this night only, open until 11 p.m.), visit the Willson Sculpture Garden (dedicated to women sculptors), depart for dinner out, or attend the following GMOA evening events:

5:30-6:30 p.m. Reception to kick off Student Night at the Museum

6:30 p.m. Artist Chakaia Booker speaks in the M. Smith Griffith auditorium
